

Distant Learning Social Story

Right now, my school is closed.

But I still need to learn.

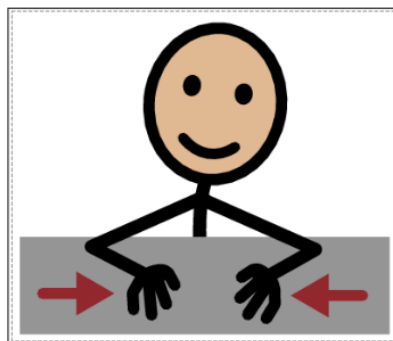

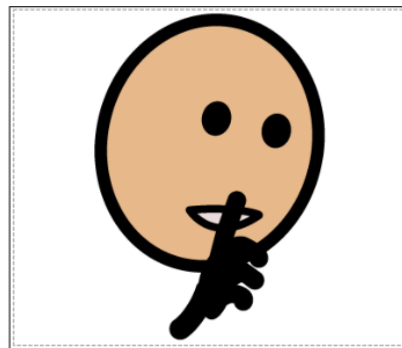

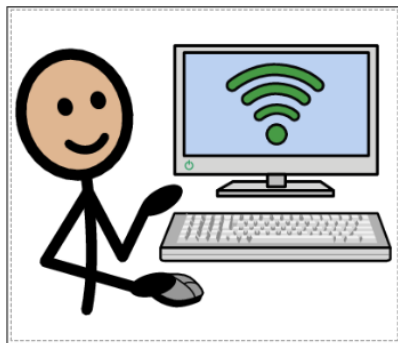

My teachers are working hard to teach me from their homes.

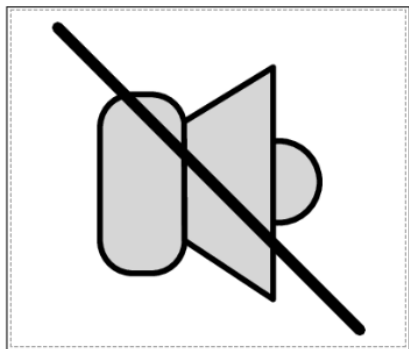

We are going to be learning through “distant learning”, meaning my teachers will use the computer to video chat with me and teach me.

When my teacher is teaching a group lesson like social skills group or science group, I need to have a quiet voice and a calm body.

If I don't think I can keep a quiet voice I can mute my computer, so I don't interrupt the Zoom lesson.

After the lesson I get to talk to all my friends and teachers.
